Educational Policy of NAIST

● Objectives

As a university composed solely of graduate schools, NAIST promotes cutting edge research and offers a sophisticated outcome-based education for each student so as to promote advances in science and technology and in society as a whole.

● Educational mission

NAIST was founded in October 1991 as a university composed solely of graduate schools to nurture individuals capable of contributing to the development of advanced science and technology. Research and education at NAIST cover three basic areas of Information Science, Biological Sciences and Materials Science.

In order to promote a suitable standard of living for people throughout the world in the 21st century, and indeed to secure our survival, the highest scientific and technical competence, together with a clear grounding in personal ethics, must characterize leading researchers in the coming generations. These are goals we set for our programs at NAIST.

Therefore, in addition to the areas of Information Science, Biological Sciences and Materials Science, we actively encourage interdisciplinary research and provide education in principles of ethics and respect for intellectual property.

● Objectives for each individual student

Education and research in the Master's Courses cultivate sophisticated expertise and initiatives in support of society and the economy. The Doctoral Courses are designed to foster in researchers and engineers a drive to seek new frontiers in science and technology and to play leading roles internationally.

● Educational policy

In addition to a specialized education, a wide-ranging curriculum cultivates ethical thinking, vision, theoretical thinking, comprehensive judgment and sharpened writing skills. A coordinated educational program is offered by the three Graduate Schools to promote interdisciplinary research, and a cooperative program is offered together with centers of education and research abroad.

The quality of education is maintained through external evaluations, self-assessments, improved research environments, and economic assistance for competent students.

Admission Policy

● Admission policy

NAIST welcomes students with high academic capabilities regardless of nationality or major field of undergraduate studies. We also welcome researchers, engineers and others currently working in society who show an enthusiasm for research.

● Graduate School of Information Science

The Graduate School of Information Science seeks people who are able to think logically and articulate their thoughts and who seek an ability to respond flexibly to changes in the science and technology of information and communication.

1. Students applying for the Master's Courses must demonstrate a strong curiosity and a willingness to take on entirely new challenges.
2. Students applying for the Doctoral Courses must show their potential to identify problems in specialized topics and discover practical solutions.

Those who submit a score* of TOEIC or TOEFL can substitute it with an oral English examination. They may also undergo an oral English examination if they expect a higher score thereby. In that case, the result of the oral examination is considered to be the English proficiency score.
