To all faculty, staff and students

Measures concerning the new coronavirus during summer holidays

The new coronavirus infection is spreading around Japan and if you become infected or come into contact with someone who is infected during the summer holidays (Aug 13th-17th), please contact your immediate supervisor (laboratory head) and alert him/her of your condition and situation as soon as possible. The immediate supervisor (laboratory head) is then to contact the Disaster Prevention Center. (See below)

Please make sure you know the contact information of your immediate supervisor. When you are unable to contact your immediate supervisor, please contact the Disaster Prevention Center directly. (See below)
